

Judge Advocate. After the war he removed to Nevada, where he formed a law partnership with W. W. Bishop of Eureka. In 1881 he was appointed United States District Judge for Nevada, and spent some time assisting Judges Hoffman and Sawyer in the District Court at San Francisco. The S. F. Bulletin says of him:

"The Judge belonged to few societies. He was a member of the G. A. R. and the Loyal Legion. As a lawyer he gained eminence through the care he showed in mastering all the details of any cases intrusted to him. His arguments were always characterized by sound logic, and he considered this better than the use of flowery metaphors."

The deceased was unmarried. His only relative is a brother. His sister-in-law was summoned to his bedside when he was taken sick and has remained constantly with him.

A MODERN AJAX.

Someone ought to send to Kemmler, the convicted New York murderer, a picture of Ajax defying the lightning. Long ago he was sentenced to be killed by a bolt of electricity. There seems to be plenty of the Ajax in him or his lawyers, for so far he has successfully defied the lightning. We do not believe it is a good way to execute prisoners anyway. On general principles we do not believe in capital punishment, but if it is to be done, there is no occasion to add to its horrors. Sitting a victim, on a chair putting one pole of a battery to his feet and attaching another to a helmet on his head and vowing him to death is more terrible, if possible, than any hanging. It would be better to take the person out for a walk and seat him in a chair that was placed on a cage, then drop the cage into a tank of carbonic acid gas, leave the gentleman there about three minutes, then hoist the cage and he would be all ready for the undertaker.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Queen Victoria has just had a picture completed by Lockhart, which contains 387 portraits and represents three years of labor. The completion of the work involved several months of travel on the Continent in order to obtain likenesses, and also compelled the artist to hire a town house, in which to obtain sittings from members of the royal family and other personages whose portraits could not be otherwise procured. The total expense to Lockhart has been many thousands of pounds, to say nothing of his compulsory rejection of other work while engaged on this commission, yet the Queen has ordered payment to him of the paltry sum of $5,000 in full settlement of all obligations. For the sake of appearances, if from no higher motive, it is probable that some interested person will see to it that the painter be not left to mourn the loss of a large sum of money through his efforts to gratify the vanity of the old lady.

It is said there are now more trout in Donner Lake than ever before since it was first seen by white men. This is because of the many hundreds of thousands of small fry turned loose in the lake at various times. The Californians are already busy at fish hatching at Lake Tahoe and other places in the mountains. At Sissons and other points they have millions of young trout and salmon. Our people are also doing their part towards stocking the streams and lakes on this side of the mountains.

A few drifts of snow still linger on the northern slope of Mount Davidson.
